

Read down the left column, then the right. Each box is a doctorate or a recorded apprenticeship, and every line runs from a teacher to the student they advised. Boxes are placed by who taught whom rather than on a strict time axis, so a teacher always sits directly above their student; the tinted bands give the period. The line begins with Ibn Sinā at Bukhara in the 990s and reaches the University of Illinois in 2026.

■ The Islamic Golden Age ■ Tabriz & Constantinople ■ The Italian Renaissance ■ Reformation & Basel ■ The Enlightenment ■ Paris · St Petersburg · Kraków ■ The Modern Statistical Line

